

For Immediate Release

September 26, 2022

Contact: Michael Burney

803.255.0459 | mburney@collinsandlacy.com

Shareholder Chris Adams Receives Certification As Circuit Court Mediator

[COLUMBIA, S.C. September 26, 2022] –Collins & Lacy Shareholder Chris Adams has been approved as a Circuit Court Mediator. As an approved neutral, Adams is certified for court appointment in cases utilizing alternative dispute resolution.

With this distinction, Chris joins Collins & Lacy attorney Ellen Adams in service as certified mediators, offering resolution services to South Carolina.

“Chris has an extensive, quality reputation throughout the legal community in South Carolina,” stated Collins & Lacy firm president Christian Stegmaier. “Mediators serve a valuable role in the court system, often reaching agreement with all parties which avoids the need for a trial. Chris will be a valuable resource for case resolution, especially in high exposure construction defect matters.”

The South Carolina Bar houses the Supreme Court’s Commission on Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) and related Board of Arbitrator and Mediator certified professionals who aid the Court with all aspects of South Carolina court-annexed ADR.

About Collins & Lacy, P.C.

Collins & Lacy is a statewide business defense firm in South Carolina relentlessly focused on the client experience by delivering unwavering legal representation through solid preparation, consistent execution, and client-oriented service aimed at success. The firm represents local, regional, and national clients in the areas of construction, corporate and business law, retail/hospitality, insurance/bad faith, products liability, professional liability, commercial transportation, and workers’ compensation. For more information, visit www.collinsandlacy.com.

###